

Three Counties Showground

REQUIREMENT:

The showground had a split-level floor between exhibition halls, meaning visitors were required to use a single ramp to move between areas.

This created a restriction in pedestrian flow, with several exhibition stands positioned away from the main visitor route and potentially receiving reduced footfall.

To improve accessibility and visitor movement, the event team required an additional access point. The challenge was finding a safe, compliant step solution that could be supplied and installed only days before the event.

THE SOLUTION:

Rapid Ramp supplied the SiteStep system, which was delivered directly to site and assembled within minutes using non-specialist labour.

The modular design provided an immediate “out of the box” solution, creating additional access between the floor levels without the delays or complexity of a traditional temporary structure.

“ The steps were quick and easy to assemble. Our Safety Manager commented that they provided a much safer alternative to the timber steps typically used for event requirements. This is a tried and tested solution that I would recommend as a cost and time efficient option for other events. ”
